

Flexible Paid Time Off Policy (Exempt Employees)

CoreWeave hires exceptional professionals to perform a wide variety of important functions that contribute to the success of our company. It is CoreWeave's intent to provide its employees the freedom they require to balance the responsibilities of both their work and home lives, thereby maximizing their value to CoreWeave.

Flexible Paid Time Off It is the policy of CoreWeave to forego implementation of a leave accrual or bank system for time off. Eligible employees will be free to take leave when they require it. Leave will be tracked for business purposes.

Eligibility

All full-time exempt-level employees are eligible under this policy.

Expectations

Under this policy, exempt-level employees are expected to:

- All time off requests must be requested via Rippling, including any unplanned absences.
- Provide advanced notice, in writing, to their supervisor/department manager, at least 2 weeks in advance of any expected absence. The more advanced notice the better.
- Communicate with supervisor and team members in advance when scheduling an absence.
- Notify their supervisor and any other appropriate team member before the start of the workday when an unscheduled absence occurs.
- Understand that due to staffing needs, sometimes, not all leave requests can be honored. Advance requests are still subject to the appropriate approval. Courtesy will be given to requests in order they are received.
- Meet all established goals despite the absences.

Except for those on protected leave (such as state or federal family and medical leave), if an eligible employee is unable to meet the expectations outlined above, CoreWeave reserves the right to temporarily revoke flexible leave. Further, if gross abuse of this leave is observed, disciplinary action may be taken, up to and including termination of employment.

Updated October 2022

Should your PTO request exceed 10 consecutive business days, please contact Human Resources and your manager to ensure proper procedures and documentation are followed. Examples of this may include:

- the birth and care of the newborn child of an employee;
- placement with a child for adoption or foster care;
- to care for an immediate family member (spouse, child, or parent) with a serious health condition; or
- to take medical leave when unable to work because of a serious health condition.

Flexible Paid TIme Off for exempt employees may not be used as a means to extend other types of leave, such as FMLA, Parental, Short- or Long-Term Disability leaves required by federal, state or local law.

While employees may take time off subject to work demands and management's discretion, they do not accrue any vacation time for purposes of payout at termination and/or payment during leaves of absence.
